

Beast, Pt. 1

Eyes so blue, they pierce like tridents
Blue so blue, they cut like diamonds
Her way so true, quickly she moves
Through and through, she make all men swoon

Her beauty takes me away this last year
Every waking day just searching
Bloodshot eyes and a reckless mind
Her beauty takes me away

Formed from glass, slick and shimmers
Fingers webbed to tear trough water
Waves don't rise without her, she
Lifts the tide, the queen of ocean life

Her beauty takes me away this last year
Every waking day just searching
Bloodshot eyes and a restless mind
Her beauty takes me away

Then I saw her eyes, thought that I found life
Then a moment longer, she came out with her lies
With the depths insight, she swam me down
Death assured I would drown
Salt fills my lungs, can't even cry
Light slips away, pressed on all sides
Surely this is my demise
