

Waves

The waves they crash down so simply
The sea dances and keeps timing
To be apart captivates my being
But to get caught up terrifies me

They sing me to sleep when I'm at shore
I stand hypnotized when I'm wanting more
The tides rising higher now
I can feel it dragging me out

My breath is cutting short
These small gasps aren't enough anymore
I'm out of options I've reached desperation
I can't go in I need restoration

The water sweeps me off the ground
Consistently knocking me all around
Unable to tell up from down
I flawlessly flow and rest so sound

Now I understand how things move
This upheaval has led me to you
Tides rising higher now
I can feel it dragging me out

My breath is cutting short
These small gasps aren't enough anymore
I'm out of options I've reached desperation
I can't go in I need restoration
My heart's been revived and my mind has a clue
Your rest oh my God makes my soul want to move
With the waters rhythm, the heartbeat of truth
The ocean's harmonies lead me to you